

NEW-BEVERIDGE RACE MAY TEST HARDING'S RULE

Indiana Voters Likely to Record Their Feelings.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
ARTICLE V.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—The progressive Republicans and all the elements of dissatisfaction with the Harding administration and with existing economic conditions are being relied upon by the Beveridge managers to accomplish the nomination of the former senator to succeed Mr. New.

According to Mr. Bobbs, the Indianapolis publisher, who is the directing genius of the Beveridge campaign, the former senator finds the bulk of his support among those Republicans, numbering 162,000, who voted for Gen. Wood and for Senator Johnson in the Republican presidential primary in 1920, while the New following is represented by the 53,000 Republicans who voted for Gov. Lowden and Senator Harding. On that showing he does not see how Beveridge can lose.

Sources of Present Discontent.
This contention is disputed by the managers of Senator New's campaign, who assert that Mr. New six years ago and Senator Watson in the 1920 primary were supported by the majority of the former Progressives, who presumably made up the greater part of the following of Gen. Wood and Senator Johnson.

That Mr. Beveridge will profit from such discontent among Republicans as may exist at the time of the primary, Mr. New appears probable. Much is heard in the Beveridge camp of the dissatisfaction among the farmers because of continued low prices and high freight rates, among the business men because of the stagnation of business and among the laboring men because of unemployment and reduction of wages.

Senator New, who is now campaigning the state speaking on the accomplishments of the Harding administration, is convinced that the existence of great discontent is tremendously exaggerated, particularly among the thoughtful citizens of all classes. That hard times are on the wane is already apparent and that they will improve sufficiently before the November election to dissipate much of the tendency to blame the party in power for existing ills appears not unlikely.

President Favors New
Whether, however, they will improve sufficiently before next May to deprive the Beveridge boom of one of its assets is problematical.

Mr. New is so thoroughly identified with the administration and Mr. Beveridge represents so extensively the spirit of criticism of the administration that the Indiana primary will be largely a test of Republican confidence in the Harding regime.

It goes without saying that the president earnestly desires the renomination of Senator New, but he would not be expected to take a hand in the contest unless his administration should be attacked by Mr. Beveridge in a manner justifying a defense by the executive.

The far reaching accomplishments of the conference on the limitation of armaments, the emergency agricultural loan legislation, the regulation of the packing house and grain markets, the decision to enact soldiers' bonus and cooperative marketing legislation, the reduction of taxes on small incomes and the great economies in the cost of the federal government attained under the operation of the new budget system constitute assets of tremendous value to the administration and to Mr. New in this contest.

One Obstacle in Beveridge's Way.
Mr. Beveridge cannot fly in the face of the constructive work of the arms conference without running the risk of losing much progressive Republican support his managers rely upon for success and so far he has treated the subject in a gingerly fashion, without coming out flatly for or against it.

The position of Mr. New on the question is, of course, unequivocal. As the closest confidant of the President, the senator helped to evolve the conception of the arms conference, and as one of the leading members of the senate committee on foreign relations he had a hand in shaping the policy of the American delegation, which avoided the mistakes of Wilsonian diplomacy and steered the conference to a successful conclusion.

Senator New was offered a post in the Harding cabinet, but declined it, largely at the solicitation of Republican Leader Lodge, who begged him to remain in the senate, where his counsel and influence are deemed invaluable to the party.

President Harding manifested also a desire to honor Mr. Beveridge. He offered the former senator a diplomatic appointment of the first rank, generally believed to have been the ambassadorship to Japan. Mr. Beveridge declined the offer.

TOKIO PREMIER DEFENDS DEALS IN WASHINGTON

Sakamoto Attack in the Diet Fails.

TOKIO, Feb. 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—The agreements reached at the Washington conference mark the first step toward establishment of a "real and lasting peace," with the possibility of abolition of armaments, Premier Baron Takahashi told the house of peers yesterday.

The imperial government does not pretend that the conference was an unqualified success as viewed from an individual standpoint," he said. "It does believe with the other powers that the present agreements are the first step toward realization of a real and lasting peace and that such agreements will grow in the future even into an understanding for the total abolition of defense equipments."

The premier's utterance came in reply to an interpellation by Baron Toshiatsu Sakamoto.

Baron Sakamoto characterized the Hughes proposals for standard limitation of navies as flagrantly improper, since they "excluded consideration of the individual nations' geographical positions and calculated naval strength on the wrong basis."

He criticized also the Pacific fortifications agreement, and regretted omission of any restriction on airplanes.

He further declared that in his opinion use of airplane carriers was unfair. Baron Sakamoto is a vice admiral, and distinguished himself in the Chino-Japanese war.

The premier and his ministers seem to have been able to meet the criticism of the acts of the Japanese delegates without trouble.

Foreign Minister Uchida followed, giving assurances regarding evacuation of Siberia by Japanese troops when the negotiations at Chita had been completed and the safety of Japanese nationals assured.

The navy department has ordered dock yards to stop construction work on the eight battleships and battle cruisers now on the ways which are to be scrapped in accordance with the Washington conference agreement. The battleships are the Kaga, Kii, Owari, and Tosa; the battle cruisers are the Atago, Akagi, Amagi, and Takao.

Construction of auxiliary craft set for the fiscal year 1924-1925 will be advanced to the present in order to afford employment for the dock yard workers.

FOREVER IS A LONG, LONG TIME.
Frank Lubar, husband of Mrs. Anna Lubar, 1847 South Throop street, was told in the Maxwell street court yesterday to stay from home until Sunday unless his wife allowed him to return before that time.

"And if she doesn't ask you back by Sunday, stay away forever," said Judge Buege. Lubar was charged with disorderly conduct.

AMERICA WON'T SIT IN AT GENOA, DIPLOMATS SAY

May Mean Calling Off of Conference.

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—In European diplomatic circles here opinions were freely voiced that the American government has decided not to accept the invitation for participation in the European economic conference at Genoa.

The American reply to Italy has not gone forward, but is ready to be sent. Herewith is an outline of conditions which the Washington administration has been considering with respect to Genoa:

1. The United States cannot sit at the conference table with soviet Russia without recognizing the Moscow bolshevik regime as the de facto government of Russia.

Europe Must Help Itself.
2. The United States cannot help nations which will not help themselves, and it would be encouraging the continuation of artificial processes in dealing with acute economic problems if America should enter into a conference professedly designed to remedy certain ills when the agenda ignores the causes of the ills.

3. There has been no demonstration of an intention on the part of certain European powers to end the era of political unrest and economic disturbance occasioned by the maintenance of large standing armies.

4. With the exception of England, European governments are not trying to balance their budgets.

5. England almost alone seems to be aware of the relation of the general European recovery to the recovery of Germany. Nations which are attempting to retard the reconstruction of Germany are retarding the reconstruction of Europe.

WORK STOPS ON 14 U. S. WARSHIPS BY NAVAL PACT

Giant Colorado to Be Completed.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[By the Associated Press.]—Construction work on fourteen capital ships was suspended today by order of Secretary Denby, under direction of President Harding. The step was taken in anticipation of ratification of the naval limitation treaty, under which only three of the vessels will be completed as war craft. The other eleven will be scrapped or converted to merchant ships, under the treaty provisions.

Mr. Harding approved the suggestion that work be brought to a standstill immediately on the eight superdreadnaughts and six battle cruisers pending final action on the treaty.

Have Cost $5,000,000 a Month.
In round figures, the building operations thus halted have cost the government approximately $5,000,000 a month. Following ratification of the treaty, contracts for the new ships will be canceled.

Only one capital ship under construction was exempted from today's suspension. She is the Colorado, more than 90 per cent complete, and which will be retained in the permanent fleet.

Ships on which work was stopped were as follows:

BATTLESHIPS.
Washington, Montana.
West Virginia, North Carolina.
Indiana, Massachusetts.
Lexington, Ranger.
Constellation, Constitution.
Saratoga, United States.

One to Be Completed.
While work on the battleships West Virginia and Washington was ordered stopped, one of these ships will be completed and added to the fleet when finished. Which is to be selected for completion has not been decided.

Of the six battle cruisers, two are to be completed as airplane carriers, but work of converting them to that type will not be undertaken until the treaty has been ratified.

TWO CAB DRIVERS
ASK RECEIVER
FOR CHECKER CO.

A petition for a receiver for the Checker Cab company was filed in the Circuit court yesterday. The complainants are Samuel Yagerman and Samuel Schwartz, former cab drivers. Their bill states that in the reorganization of the company they were to have had five shares of stock which they never received. They claim they were returned to them when they left the company, but that they received none of the large profits they allege the company made while they worked for it.

HUGHES TELLS OF INDIRECT EFFECT OF CONFERENCE

Acknowledges Support of Latin Americans.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—Belief that the results achieved by the conference on the limitation of armament "cannot fail to have effect in other countries," was expressed today by Secretary Hughes in replying to an address by Ambassador Mathieu of Chile, at a meeting of the board of governors of the Pan-American union.

The secretary expressed deep appreciation of the felicitations voiced by Ambassador Mathieu on the outcome of the conference and reiterated the gratitude felt by delegates to the conference for the use of the Pan-American union's building.

Latin America's Important Part.
Explaining that it was a matter of regret that the republics of Latin America could not take part directly in the proceedings, "by reason of the definite and limited objects of the conference," Secretary Hughes said he hoped "that you all felt that you had a measure and a very important degree of participation," and said that the building of the union always would be "invested with the most gracious memories by reason of the fact that the conference met within its walls."

"I have said that the conference had a certain definite and limited aim. That is true and that is the reason why the conference succeeded. The ambassador of Chile has well observed, however, that its effects are not as limited as its definite purposes."

Indirect Effects Great.
"The naval powers which were engaged in active and really wasteful competition in the building of monster ships for fighting purposes have reduced their navies and agreed upon an effective limitation. The indirect effect of that I think is very great. The fact that sea power has been bounded in this matter is a considerable achievement. People are not disposed at this time to see money raised by taxation spent unnecessarily on instruments of destruction."

"Again in connection with the difficult far eastern problems it has conclusively been shown that where there is a disposition to reach amicable adjustments it is not proofless to take counsel together. The most acute differences can be settled."

UNCLE SAM WILL REDEEM VICTORY 3 3/4% ON JUNE 15

First of War Loans to Be Called In.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Uncle Sam will pay off the Victory 3 3/4 per cent bonds on or before June 15, and after that date they will cease to bear interest. There are about $400,000,000 of these bonds outstanding. These bonds to the amount of $497,915,100 were issued May 20, 1919. They mature May 20, 1923, but the government reserved the right to call them for redemption either on June 15 or Dec. 15 this year.

Thus the government is exercising its earliest opportunity to retire this issue. But it also is offering to take up the bonds at par and accrued interest any time before June 15, or to accept them, if in coupon form, in payment of federal taxes due March 15.

Sell in Market at 100.12.
These bonds sold yesterday in the market at 100.12, and recently the price went above 100.32. In December, 1920, they sold at 94.92.

The Victory 3 3/4% and the Victory 4 1/2% were made interchangeable, but this exchange privilege ceased last night. The Victory 3 3/4% were wholly exempt from taxation. These bonds may be presented for redemption at the federal reserve banks or sent to the United States treasurer at Washington.

If held until June 15, the bonds should have the coupons payable Dec. 15, 1922, and May 20, 1923, attached in order to obtain face value. If the bonds are registered they should be properly assigned to the secretary of the treasury. The banks will instruct holders how to make out the forms.

First War Loan Called.
The Victory 3 3/4% are the first of the war loan issues to be called for redemption. In making the announcement last night, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon said this action was taken in connection with the treasury's program for refinancing the $5,000,000,000 of short dated debt outstanding.

There are about $2,000,000,000 Victory 4 1/2% outstanding, which mature May 20, 1923, but which may be called for redemption either June 15 or Dec. 15, this year. These bonds also may be used in payment of federal taxes next month. In addition, there also is an aggregate of about $3,000,000,000 in treasury certificates and notes which mature in the next three years.

SAYS VIERECK TOLD LUSITANIA WOULD BE LOST

Editor Accused at Libel Suit Hearing.

New York, Feb. 8.—[Special.]—Another chapter of the wartime activities of German propagandists in this country was contributed today at a hearing in the $500,000 libel suit which William H. Thompson, mayor of Chicago, brought against This Chicago Tribune. The witness was James P. Keating, a writer, who described himself as a "propagandist."

Keating said that he had worked on newspapers in Boston and New York; had been a publicity man, had represented various foreign governments, and soon after the world war started became associated with Dr. William Bayard Hale and Dr. Carl A. Fuesler in disseminating the leaflets and pamphlets of the German information service.

One of the things that Keating testified was the statement that George Sylvester Viereck, then editor of the Fatherland, had fixed the date of the sinking of the Lusitania three days before the catastrophe occurred.

Tells of Lusitania Disaster.

At a luncheon with German workers in the old Holland house, declared Keating, Viereck had made his prediction. Speaking of Viereck, Keating testified:

"He told us that we would soon see whether the submarine menace was a menace or not. I regarded it, however, as Viereck's usual bragado."

Informed by the New York Times of the statements made by Keating, the former editor of the Fatherland tonight said the Lusitania prediction was "a damned lie."

"It is perfectly absurd that I knew exactly when the Lusitania was going to go down," he said. "I may have had lunch with Mr. Keating—I knew him well—and I may have told him that 'sooner or later the Lusitania or some other large vessel is bound to go down,' but neither I nor any one else in America knew when it would occur. I even printed an editorial that the disaster would surely occur, as a warning to those Americans who intended taking the trip. It was well known that some large vessel, preferably the Lusitania, because it was the 'largest boat afloat,' would be sunk."

Many Objections Made.

Keating, a witness for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, was examined by Charles Rathbun, counsel for the newspaper. He was cross-examined by David H. Jackson of Chicago, attorney for Mayor Thompson.

Keating told about the preparation of Dr. Hale's "Thou Shalt Not Kill," a thirty-two page pamphlet, the publication of which was credited to "The Organization of American Women for Strict Neutrality."

"Did Dr. Hale ever say why he used that organization name?" asked Attorney Rathbun.

"He said it was very convenient and attractive thing to wish the pamphlet off on," replied the witness.

After the Lusitania sinking, the witness said, Dr. Hale's visits to the propaganda bureau became rather infrequent, the doctor doing most of his work in his apartment in Riverside drive.

In cross-examining the witness Attorney Jackson sought to have Keating say that he knew the "Lusitania" carried 5,000 cases of ammunition; but the witness denied all knowledge of the alleged cargo, reiterating his knowledge that it "carried passengers."

FARM BLOC WINS AGAIN AS SENATE O. K.'S CO-OP BILL

Association Freed from Trust Laws.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—The house cooperative marketing bill, supported by the farm bloc, was passed by the senate late today.

Only one vote, that of Senator Gerry, Democrat, Rhode Island, was cast against the measure. Two other senators, Brandegee, Republican, Connecticut, and King, Democrat, Utah, were paired on the measure and withheld their votes. The vote was 58 to 1.

The senate's action was regarded by some as the most sweeping of the victories attained by the farm bloc, since in accepting the house bill the senate overrode its own judiciary committee, which had reported a substitute.

The substitute was defeated, 56 to 4. The bill now goes to conference.

As passed by the senate the bill retains the provisions which relieve the cooperative associations from the application of laws prohibiting trusts or unfair business practices, placing the authority to determine when such acts have been committed with the secretary of agriculture.

During the debate today reference was made to the farm bloc's power. This brought from Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, the statement that he had heard the bill had administrative support.

The most important of the amendments accepted by the senate was one providing that "the associations shall not deal in products of nonmembers to an amount greater in value than such as are handled by it for members."

This, it was alleged, makes it impossible for cooperative associations to be "stolen" by a group of individuals who, merely by declining to admit new members, resolve themselves into a closed corporation.

LENIN SELECTS CHICAGO FOR A BIG FUND DRIVE

New "Red Cross" Is Ruse

appropriations and distributes its supplies under American direction, as is shown by the letterhead of the Friends of Soviet Russia, which bears this statement: "Our principle: 'We make the working class appeal.' Give not only to feed the starving, but to save the Russian workers' revolution. Give without imposing imperialistic and reactionary conditions as do Hoover and others."

Organizer Is Annoyed.

Greatly annoyed by the effect of this communication, Mr. Liggett, who had previously made repeated but unsuccessful efforts to obtain for his committee the endorsement of Mr. Hoover, sent a telegram of protest and appeal to the secretary, who replied as follows:

"I understand Dr. Dubrowsky says all supplies collected through the Russian Red Cross are dispatched to the soviet authorities for distribution, in fact that all supplies so far shipped have been sent to these authorities."

"I have not the slightest criticism to any one of any faith recruiting supplies for famine sufferers, but I doubt whether all of the eminent men who have joined your committee are aware of these facts. If you will send this telegram to the members of your committee and they make the arrangements clear to their subscribers, it would seem to me to settle the whole matter."

Far from agreeing with Mr. Hoover's suggestion, Mr. Liggett, in conversations with senators, government officials and others, has retailed by attacking Mr. Hoover for failing to endorse his undertaking.

Secretary Hoover has given out no statement in regard to the committee. His attention was first attracted to it by Mr. Liggett, who sought his endorsement, and his replies, as above, were based on memoranda furnished him by the department of justice.

The point is insisted upon by the organizers of the committee that the Russian Red Cross has been recognized by the international committee of the Red Cross at Geneva. This is true. It is also true that the Russian Red Cross in question was created by the soviet government and is controlled by it. As soon as the soviet government came into power it began in countries where official recognition was withheld to organize soviet Red Cross societies, regardless of the existing Red Cross societies, which have now added to their letterheads "old organization" to distinguish them from the soviet societies.

In Germany, Austria, and other enemy countries, where the loyal Red Cross societies were not functioning, new societies were formed by the soviets. The question of their recognition was persistently agitated and finally settled last August, when the international committee ended by recognizing the new as well as the old organizations.

The purpose, as stated by the soviet authorities, was to establish a base and a channel of communication through the privileges accorded the Red Cross. Litvinoff is one of the directors.

Terrorists Get Money.

It is stated that money from this country has been sent through the American bureau of the Russian Red Cross to Zinovieff (alias Appelbaum), chief of the Terrorist committee at Petrograd.

Supplies of food and clothing are considered to soviet port authorities at Petrograd, and contributions in money are taken charge of by Dr. Dubrowsky and his associates, and there is open uncertainty as to the use made of it. Dr. Dubrowsky is now in Mexico.

Senator McCumber today said he knew nothing about the American committee for Russian famine relief. "All I know about the matter," the senator said, "is that Mr. Liggett called me up on the telephone and gave me the names of a number of prominent persons who, he said, had endorsed his committee and were serving on its advisory council. In view of the statements he made I said I had no objection to the use of my name."

Senator Capper consented to the use of his name upon hearing from Mr. Liggett that Senator McCumber had approved.

Senator Randall said he was given to understand the committee was made up of prominent preachers, rabbis, priests, and laymen, and that "these good people" were anxious to relieve the suffering in Russia.

Senator France tonight endorsed the work of the committee. "You have the names of members," he said, "and I do not think you will find any bolsheviks among them. The organization is, as its name implies, an agency intended to relieve the famine sufferers of Russia. The only reason I can think of for criticism, and this is not a good reason, is that the relief is to be distributed through the Russian Red Cross, recognized by the soviet government. I am in thorough sympathy with the work in hand, and have made speeches for the committee."

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS.

Max Kael, 1342 South Springfield avenue, was arrested yesterday while carrying a suitcase containing three gallons of moonshine. His case will be heard Feb. 21.

U. S. CAN BREAK LENIN, BRITISH SLEUTH ASSERTS

The Russian policy of the United States should be so shaped that the recent rift in the bolshevik lute may be intensified and thus break the dictatorship of Lenin and the Third International, according to Sir Paul Dukes, a member of the British secret service, now here to lecture.

"Lenin secretly yearns for a world revolution," said the Englishman. "For his immediate ends, however, the restoration of Russia, Lenin affects to believe somewhat differently. He should be forced to grant every concession possible, such as dismemberment of the Red army, the freeing of labor, and the abolition of the International."

AMERICAN TRADE HAS GOOD HOLD ON WEST INDIES

British Set Up Tariff Barriers.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Feb. 8.—(Copyright, 1922, By The Chicago Tribune.)
The British colonial office, has just finished here a tour of investigation of politics and trade. For the strengthening of the bonds of empire and seeking to improve economic conditions in the West Indies, he announced his government, subject to approval by parliament, was prepared to enter into a formal agreement with the West Indies that "preference on West Indian goods at present entitled to preferential rates on importation into the United Kingdom shall be continued for ten years from the date of this agreement on the basis of reciprocity."

Trinidad colony, in accordance with a recent agreement, has given all British countries a preference of 50 per cent of the duties on products imported over general rates for other countries. At the same time business men realize local prosperity depends on an increase of trade with America. There is a strong intimation that it is unlikely that the West Indies will get an increased preference on sugar.

"Think Imperially."
The dictum "Think Imperially" is in operation against the best interests of the colony and is keeping out American capital, especially from the oil fields.

If the West Indian confederation ever goes through, this will be the capital for the supergovernment. It is the cleanest and most prosperous city of the West Indies and is called the Hongkong of this part of the world. The port is the base of a green, mountainous island where the Orinoco empties.

A vast reclamation work is under way in Caroni swamp outside of town. West Indians expect to raise rice. The chief obstacle to great development is the shallow harbor. Ships of deep draft anchor in the open roadstead two miles off port. There is a lighterage business in coal and oil. Down the island there is a pipe line and jetties where the vessels can bunker oil. The government intends to improve the harbor by dredging.

$57,000,000 a Year.
At present there are more vessels than freight. Canadian service is unprofitable, it is said. The ships ballast coal on return. The aggregate total of trade is twenty million pounds ($27,000,000) a year. This is for Trinidad and the neighboring island of Tobago, which is said to be the scene of the adventures of the Swiss Family Robinson. The population is about 400,000, which shows prosperity the greatest of the British islands.

The United States holds about 42 per cent of the total import trade. The United Kingdom holds 27 per cent; and Canada 15.

The cocoa market is down and business is depressed. The asphalt lake, leased by an American company, is one of the chief sources of revenue. There is little trade with South America.

Oil Companies Pay.
The oil production is 2,300,000 barrels. Two companies are on the dividend paying list. The Trinidad leaseholders' contract with the British admiralty have just run out. The greatest producing district comprises only thirty acres and hundreds of thousands of acres, held as concessions by the British, have not been explored. One American company is producing, but foreigners are unable to lease crown lands where most of the oil is found. Leases to foreigners recently made are subject to the approval of the government which is said to be anxious for American capital. The district is dependent on American machinery.

English textiles are getting back to their prewar position. German earth-enware and cheap goods are coming in. An important naval coaling station is at Port Castries, Island of St. Lucia, just to the north.

WIRTH VICTORY IN RAIL STRIKE JOLTS STINNES

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
BERLIN, Feb. 8.—Although the cabinet is composed of minority parties, the Wirth government feels that it won a remarkable victory, demonstrating its strength, when it reached a compromise with the railroad strikers. It is said the settlement was due largely to Chancellor Wirth's intervention when he sent Transportation Minister Groener home and came to an agreement with the locomotive engineers himself.

Today the Wirth government feels itself capable of withstanding the Stinnes group and the reactionary right wing parties, as well as outside demands that Germany quit extending billions.

The strikers also feel that they won a point, because the government promised to increase their pay, recognizing that from 60 to 100 marks a day, or from 20 to 50 cents, for the highest skilled workmen, in view of the huge increase in the cost of living recently, is not sufficient.

The strikers demanded a 40 per cent increase and they probably will get from 10 to 20 per cent. This will mean an additional 20,000,000,000 marks (roughly $100,000,000) increase in the budget, which the Wirth government will inform the estates must be paid as the price of preventing a revolution.

AX KILLER STOLE WIFE; ENDS LIFE TO FOIL POSSES

Woman Captive 8 Days in Lonely Old Cabin.

Manitowish, Wis., Feb. 8.—Rather than submit to capture by a posse which had surrounded his cabin near Big Lake, eighteen miles from here, John Donahue, 40, a lumberjack, committed suicide today by shooting the top of his head off with a shotgun. Donahue was sought for the murder of Jack Powers, a neighbor.

After killing Powers, Donahue held Mrs. Powers prisoner in her own home for eight days. She escaped last Sunday and notified the sheriff.

Donahue's suicide today ended a reign of terror which had prevailed in this region since Jan. 30, when it was learned Donahue had killed Powers and was holding Mrs. Powers captive.

Posse on Snowshoes.
The reinforced posse from Manitowish, Big Lake, and Eagle River, led by Sheriff P. J. Gaffney, arrived at Big Lake at daybreak today, following an all night tramp by snowshoes from Manitowish.

A short time later, when Donahue saw the men taking their posts in the woods surrounding the Powers cabin, he rushed to the door and shouted, "Take me if you can."

Donahue then reentered the cabin and opened fire through a small window. The men returned the fire and the exchange of shots continued throughout the day. At 3 o'clock firing from the cabin ceased and Sheriff Gaffney and two of his men entered the cabin and found Donahue's body.

The posse found Powers' body in the Donahue shack, near the Powers home. Donahue had crushed his head with an ax.

Slew Husband with Ax.
Donahue killed his husband with an ax on the night of Jan. 28, Mrs. Powers said today. "Jack left home about 9 o'clock to visit Donahue, whose shack is just a short distance from our home. He did not come back. After midnight Donahue came and told me he had killed Jack and that I then belonged to him and that I'd have to remain with him."

"For eight days and nights he would not allow me to leave. Except when he bound me hand and foot he was not cruel to me."

Big Lake is in Vilas county in north-central Wisconsin, near the Michigan line. The Big Lake region is a haven for tourists and pleasure seekers in the summer.

Powers owned several cottages and was building a larger resort for the coming summer. He and Donahue had worked together for several years.

BUILD STANDS TO SEAT THRONAS POPE IS CROWNED

St. Peter's Prepared for Ceremony.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
ROME, Feb. 8.—Extensive preparations are under way for the coronation of Pope Pius XI. Sunday morning in St. Peter's. Big grandstands are being constructed for Vatican officials, members of the diplomatic corps and guests.

The Basilica will be draped with gorgeous historical tapestries. The coronation tradition reverts to the middle ages and is the most impressive ceremony of Catholicism. It is snowing in Rome and has become colder. This will cause curtailment of some of the ceremonies.

A report that the pope will emerge outside of St. Peter's immediately after the coronation to bless the people unable to enter the church was denied at the Vatican tonight.

See No Early Rapprochement.
Members of the Italian parliament and church men say they do not expect a formal reconciliation for many years. Although desiring a rapprochement for Italy's good, they fear it would embarrass the church abroad by causing the pope to be regarded as an "Italian bishop" rather than God's vicar, free from the influence of all nations.

Many prominent Catholics here favor reconciliation, claiming that the church would benefit because the pope would be free to visit all countries, thus reinforcing his spiritual power all over the world.

Would Change Concave Rules.
Agitation for a change in the papal constitution so that American cardinals will have opportunity to participate in the election of the next pope continued here today.

French and Spanish cardinals issued interviews insisting there was no intention "to slight American Catholics" by electing a pope before even Cardinal O'Connell could arrive.

INSIDE STORY ON GRAFT CASE TOLD TONIGHT

What was that story of petty graft in the city hall which all the Chicago newspapers suppressed on Jan. 28 and 29?

And why did they suppress it? On the surface the case looks bad for the newspapers. It may look worse for the aldermen involved in it before Oscar Hewitt gets through with it at the Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern university this evening.

Just about a year ago Mr. Hewitt, political writer for THE TRIBUNE, inaugurated the Medill school's series of open lectures on journalism. This evening at 8:15 o'clock in Booth hall of Northwestern university's Chicago headquarters, 31 West Lake street, he will again appear in the course he successfully launched, and his subject will be "The Reporter's Pitfalls in the City Hall." The public, which has a taxpaying interest in the pitfalls, is invited.

HARDING ORDERS GEN. RUSSELL TO HAITI PROBE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—Brig. Gen. John H. Russell of the marine corps, will leave in a few days for Haiti, where he will act as the personal representative of President Harding in an attempt to clear up the situation involving American occupation.

State department officials would not say whether the officer would be given the title of American high commissioner in Haiti, creation of which has been recommended by the special senate committee investigating conditions in Haiti and the Dominican republic.

Dr. Pierre Hudicourt, of Port au Prince, a native Haitian, testifies before the senate committee, however, made the statement that he had been informed that "a brigadier general" was to be appointed high commissioner.

He did not identify the officer further before the committee and later refused to elaborate on his statement.

Protest was made by Dr. Hudicourt against the appointment of a high commissioner, especially a military man, declaring such action by the United States would amount to establishment of a protectorate over the island republic.

The Haitian people, he said, would not recognize as legal or right any such action by the American government.

Gen. Russell was said by marine corps officers to be qualified especially for the task of dealing with problems surrounding the American occupation of Haiti, having through his administration of military affairs there won the confidence to a large degree of the natives.

He served as commander of the marine forces in the island from November, 1917, to December, 1918, and again in 1919.

DISARMAMENT OF GUNMEN PLANNED BY JUDGES TODAY

Will Try to Free City of Pistol Toters.

Judges of the Superior and Circuit courts and officials of various bar associations expect today to complete an investigation of a week into existing laws regulating of gun sales and gun traffic and to begin the preparation of what is declared to be much needed new legislation.

It was learned that the present plan of the court and bar officials is to ask for the passage of a new bill containing all the restrictive elements of present laws, together with more stringent legislation on the manufacturing, selling, importing, and transportation phases of the traffic.

Plan New Ordinance.
In addition to the proposed state legislation a subcommittee named by the judicial committee of the city council may also draft and submit for action a new ordinance far more drastic in its effect than present municipal statutes and which will automatically repeal the ordinance under which the police have been making anti-gun arrests.

Lawyers of note have informed the investigators that the second amendment of the constitution, which declares the right of the "citizenry to keep and bear arms," does not prohibit states and municipalities from enforcing further restrictive legislation. It is upon this plan that the proponents of the anti-gun campaign are proceeding. It was asserted.

Meanwhile the crime camorra yesterday continued its looting of the city. There were two shootings and a dozen major holdups.

Drinks, Then Draws Gun.

John O'Detta, 55 years old, 3614 South Michigan avenue, dropped into the home of Joseph Smith, 3671 South State street, to give him a drink of moonshine. Smith drank, then drew a gun. He shot O'Detta in the right shoulder. After they had sobered up neither could tell the cause of the affair. Raymond and Joseph McDonald, 3527 Archer avenue, brothers, were robbed of $3,029 belonging to the Realty Selling and Trust company, 3517 Archer avenue, yesterday afternoon by two armed men in an automobile. They had just drawn the money from a bank.

Joseph Gorman, 7249 Merrill avenue, has been wearing a diamond ring valued at $2,500. Yesterday he had $250 in cash. He chartered a taxi cab to take him home. Three armed men in a car crowded the cab to the curb. Gorman gave up the ring and cash.

Burglars with a Jove for headwear and kid gloves broke into the store of Lelawer & Son, 319 South State street, got $1,000 and a thousand dollars' worth of men's furnishings.

Boys Get $550.

Three boys with big revolvers entered the offices of Maloy, Carpenter & Co., room 169 Exchange building, in the stockyards and robbed Harry L. Carpenter, 428 East 46th place, of money and jewelry totaling $550.

Two armed men robbed Morris Levinaky, 3224 Hirsch street, of his automobile and then drove a few doors to the grocery store of John Rinda, 4490 Augusta street, and got $70 from the cash register. Then they went joy riding.

"What's the price of sausage?" two young men asked Gust De Mas, 3638 Cottage Grove avenue, a butcher, last night. "Twenty cents a pound," he said. "Too much," said the young men. They produced guns and collected $10.

Burglars' Safe Blown.
The same two men who broke into the store of the butchers of Otto Kleinfeld, 211 South Lotus avenue, of $140.

Four robbers, armed with a sawed-off shotgun and four revolvers, blew the safe of the Mutual Brewing company's plant at 3874 South Homan avenue yesterday and got away with $200.

At Waukegan it was announced that Joseph Bradasero, 1848 Throop street, is under arrest as the fourth man in the killing of Motorcycle Policeman William Peterson of Winthrop Harbor. Bradasero is a brother-in-law of Ignatz Fots, charged with having fired the shots which killed Peterson.

Further downstate prosecutors, judges, and chiefs of police wrote to THE TRIBUNE yesterday promising their fullest support to a campaign for gun sales restrictions.

As a mere grouping of the entries under the office titles does not give a clear picture of the way the three interlock in some places and conflict in many more, they have been parcelled out in the following tabulation:

State's Attorney Crowe has announced that where he has left a place blank and there is a Brundage candidate for the office he and his associates will support the Brundage man.

The men candidates for the county board on the Brundage and Deneen tickets were agreed upon as their joint list, but a tangle arose concerning the naming of the women candidates from the city. The result is that the Brundage-Deneen combined ticket shows eleven candidates for the county board where only ten are to be chosen. To date County Judge Frank S. Righelmer, backed by the city hall for renomination, has no opponent.

close articulated protective wall. Members of some of its groups "pull the box" at stated intervals, reporting to their hangouts and headquarters at certain hours, just like a policeman calling up on his beat. If they fail to report, the machinery of the crooks automatically gets busy on habeas corpus avenue.

A few nights ago headquarters picked up a known crook for interrogation. None of his pals were in sight. Two hours later a writ of habeas corpus was flashed by an attorney. The arrest had been so quiet and quick that the prisoner had not been time to communicate with any one. When he failed to call up or show up, the legal action was started automatically.

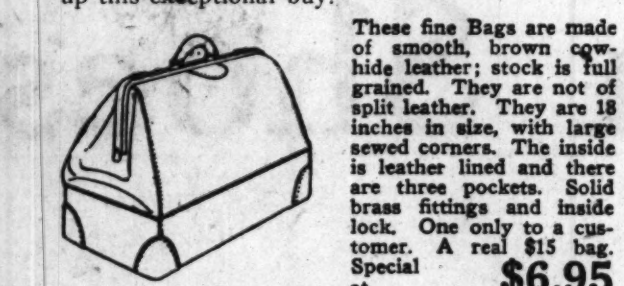

The automobile in the last few years has changed the technic of organized crime. Now criminals work in groups, generally of four men and a driver. Practically all the crime, according to the police authorities, is now done at the point of a gun, while at least 90 per cent of the crimes are done with the aid of an automobile. To cope with this required a reorganization of police methods, and perhaps one of the best things achieved by Chief Fitzmorris has been to give the police greater mobility, through the automobile squad and the motorcycle men.

But the laws have not kept pace with the reorganization of crime, nor has the machinery of justice been brought up to date although many of the loopholes such as escape on straw ball have been substantially lessened by State's Attorney Crowe. Last December 1,005 criminal complaints were made, as against 1,391 in the same month of 1930. A sizeable decrease, but still 1,005 crimes are a lot too much. Of the 10,000 habitual criminals in Chicago, Chief Fitzmorris declares that if Chicago could only get rid of 500 of them, who constitute the backbone of organized crime, the rest would be easy sailing.

BRUNDAGE FIRM FOR RINGER; HOPE OF PEACE FADES

Country Police Stations, Hoffman's Platform.

BY PARKE BROWN.
Firm in his position that he was to select the R-D. candidate for county treasurer, Attorney General Brundage announced yesterday that he was "through" conferring and co-operating with ex-Gov. Deneen and his lieutenants as long as Wallace G. Clark, a Deneenite, remains in the field as a candidate for that post.

The Deneen leaders insisted an agreement might still be reached, but they refused to admit there was any possibility that Clark will fail to file among early comers tomorrow morning. It will be a race for first place between him and Charles Ringer, the Brundage selection, to whom some of the Deneen people are said to be bitterly opposed.

DAVID G. JOYCE SUEDED FOR $500,000 BY AUTO DEALER
"A business transaction" was said to be the basis of a praecipe in a $500,000 suit filed by Attorney Stephen A. Day for Edward E. Esch, auto dealer, of 2216 South Michigan avenue, yesterday against David Gage Joyce, millionaire lumber dealer and clubman.

Attorney Day refused to state exactly what the suit is about. He said that it has nothing to do with the divorce of Mr. Joyce.

David G. Joyce is a brother of J. Stanley Joyce, divorced husband of Peggy Hopkins. David was divorced by Roberta A. McAuliff of St. Louis in 1920.

Brundage Firm for Ringer.
Before leaving for Springfield, Attorney General Brundage said there was "absolutely no doubt" of his rights in the matter, and that he intended to stand by Ringer all the way through. He said he would not even discuss any peace proposal that contemplated Ringer's withdrawal.

With this deadlock on between Brundage and Deneen, candidates not allied with them were already getting into their campaigns. Cononer Peter M. Hoffman, the Crowe candidate for sheriff, issued a statement announcing that if he is elected the sheriff's country town force will engage in active police work in the districts outside Chicago.

Favors Rural Police Stations.
"If elected," he said, "it is my intention to install a sane, comprehensive system not only of regulating traffic, but of installing three or more sheriff's police stations along state highways with courtrooms in connection, to give the justices and police magistrates facilities for holding court and trying cases immediately after arrests are made."

All reputable justices and magistrates will be given equal opportunities to hold court at such stations, where speedy motorcycles or large automobiles also shall be maintained in charge of competent men at all hours of the day and night, subject to instant call.

Righelmer Still Unopposed.
County Judge Righelmer, who, although the only candidate whose cause the city hall has openly espoused, is still unopposed in the primary race, addressed a meeting of women organized in his interests. He laid stress upon the importance of the duties of election judges and clerks and promised "a square deal for everybody."

"Let us do our share in the battle for good government," he said, "by giving everybody a square deal in every particular in every election, by honest application to our duties. That means honest elections, an honest count on every question of public policy, and an honest count for every man or woman who is a candidate for public office, regardless of faction, principle, or party."

So convenient and effective for sore throat

With gargles or sprays it is impossible to keep a sore throat under anything like continuous treatment. With Formamint, it makes no difference where you are—at work, in crowded car, shop, theatre or church—you can dissolve one of these delicious, almost candy-like tablets in your mouth once an hour or so. An effective yet harmless antiseptic is released and, carried by the saliva, continuously bathes the entire lining of the mouth and throat, checks germ growth, and gives the sore, infected tissues chance to heal.

Formamint Tablets used when especially exposed to infection reduce your danger of catching sore throats, and even influenza, from others.

Children can—and should—use them freely, as defence against throat affections and influenza which spread so readily in congested school-rooms.

SMALL 'PARDONS' BRING A FIGHT TO PROTECT COURTS

School Board Case Has Legal Tangles.

ANGUS ROY SHANNON.

A legal battle without precedent will be staged as the result of Gov. Small's pardon of the defendants in the school board contempt case, lawyers and judges forecast yesterday.

This fight is scheduled to begin on next Thursday, Feb. 16. On that day Judge Kichkan Scanlan is expected to issue capias for William A. Bither, attorney of the school board and the nine school board members and former members who have been adjudged in contempt.

In so doing he will act as if Gov. Small had not granted them pardons. The delay is due to the fact that ten days must intervene between his action and the time the motion for a rehearing of the contempt proceedings was denied by the Appellate court.

Up to Supreme Court.

When Judge Scanlan issues the capias it is expected that the immediate imprisonment of the defendants will be averted by application for habeas corpus writ. Then the question as to the right of the governor to issue pardons in contempt cases will be threshed out in the Supreme court of the state.

Judge Scanlan pointed out yesterday that Gov. Lowden had refused to issue a pardon in a contempt case after the jurist had expressed the opinion that the governor had no right to interfere in such a case.

Angus Roy Shannon, former attorney of the board, who prosecuted the cases, declared yesterday that "such usurpation by the executive branch of the government, as represented by the governor, of the judicial branch, would soon bring about anarchy."

For Protection of Courts.

"This matter ceased to be a school matter from the moment former Sup. Chadsey resigned. It has come to be solely a matter of protecting the rights and dignity of the courts, which the governor by his act seeks to invade," Mr. Shannon said. "A case exactly similar to the school board one is before the Supreme court of Wisconsin now. A similar case in Nebraska resulted in victory for the judge."

"The governor is wholly devoid of power to pardon a person who has been duly committed for contempt by the courts," was the opinion of Attorney Leo F. Wormser. "In England the judicial power is derived from the king, but here it emanates from the people as expressed in the constitution."

"In fact, the state constitution limits the governor's pardoning power to criminal cases. The court's power to make an order includes equal power to punish for disobedience of that order. This authority is so inherently and indisputably an attribute of judicial power that from time immemorial it has been recognized as the sole and exclusive power of the court."

"The federal courts have even dealed the power of the President to pardon a person adjudged guilty of contempt of court. An executive who attempts to nullify the order of the court by improperly granting a pardon is himself guilty of contempt of court and may be punished accordingly."

Mr. Wormser cited two cases in which Gov. Lowden refused to issue pardons in contempt cases, though he said the governor rendered no opinion explaining his attitude.

Lundin has used his "small" rubber stamp again," was the comment of Attorney General Brundage. "As the chief law officer of the state I must protect the integrity of the courts, and if there is anything further to be done I am at the command of Judge Scanlan. I have not yet gone into this matter, but I doubt if the governor has the right to so use his pardoning power."

LYLE PROPOSES FLAT BUILDING TAX TO AID CITY

Plan Means Higher Rent, Aldermen Fear.

A plan to license apartment buildings and rooming houses in an effort to increase the city's revenues was laid before the city council yesterday by Ald. John H. Lyle.

His resolution directs the finance committee to prepare an ordinance licensing such buildings, using the San Francisco ordinance as a model. In 1920, under the San Francisco ordinance, the city received $3,904 from the license of apartment houses and rooming houses.

Lyle, bringing a revenue to that city of $13,352.

Fear Boost in Rents.

Members of the city council appeared divided on the Lyle proposal. Some declared that landlords would raise the license fee as an excuse to boost rents and others asserted that the license plan would operate to reduce the profits of landlords.

A "wet" and "dry" tilt developed at yesterday's session when Ald. Cermak insisted that a resolution from the Epworth League of the First M. E. church of Irving Park protesting against the broadcasting of the council's plea for "light wines and whole some beers" be placed on file.

Ald. Lyle insisted that it be published as well as placed on file. The city clerk refused to permit the resolution to be spread on the records, Ald. Homan shouting, "Send it back to the ministers where it came from."

Cermak Makes Charge.

"These people who are opposing an opportunity for the voters to express themselves on wine and beer are the same ones who are trying to limit Cook county's representation so that two-thirds of the state taxes can be saddled on Chicago," Ald. Cermak said.

"Duplicate vehicle license tags, purchased for 50 cents, are being used to avoid payment of city vehicle licenses," City Clerk Igoo told the council. It was decided to increase the fee for duplicate tags.

TALESMEN BALK AT DEATH FOR MRS. OBENCHAIN

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—The death penalty demanded by the state seems to be an insurmountable barrier in the path of selecting a jury to try Mrs. Madelynn C. Obenchain, charged with plotting to kill her sweet heart, J. Belton Kennedy.

Late today the third panel of ten men and two women had been practically exhausted and a fourth panel of veniremen will be called tomorrow morning, largely made up of men.

The ever-shifting temporary jury had shifted to eight men and two women before adjournment today.

Although Madelynn Obenchain has insisted that it is the person and not their sex that interests her, it is noticeable that her gray-blue eyes light with interest and she whispers hurriedly to her lawyers when a woman is excused and a sleek business man takes her place.

Then, too, there are a surprising number of men who have quickly admitted that they have strong prejudices against the death penalty inflicted after circumstantial evidence.

The state has three peremptory challenges left from the present list. The defense seven.

DETECTIVE HELD AS GIRL BRIBER IN RICKARD CASE

New York, Feb. 8.—Charged with bribing Nellie Gasko, 13, of Brooklyn to withhold testimony against "Tex" Rickard, fight promoter, accused of assaulting three young girls, Nathan Podd, a private detective, today was remanded to the Tombs by Justice Wasservogel. He will be arraigned Friday. Bail was fixed at $10,000.

The bribery charge was preferred by Richard J. Curran, an officer of the Children's society, which has the Gasko girl in its custody. Mr. Curran's complaint was accompanied by the girl's affidavit as to its truth.

Trace Girl to Farm.

Podd was arrested yesterday on a farm near Wappingers Falls, N. Y., where officers of the society had traced Nellie. She had been missing from her home since Jan. 27. The officials said Podd was fleeing with her.

After telling acting District Attorney Ferdinand Pecora that she had met Rickard nearly every day since last summer, the Gasko girl, according to the police, declared Podd's wife had induced her to meet the detective. Podd, the police declared, paid the girl an unspecified sum of money on her agreement to change her testimony against the fight promoter.

Paid Truancy Fine.

Detectives found the child after Podd had paid a $3 fine imposed on Martin Gasko, her father, on conviction of failing to take her to school.

"Nellie Gasko has described in detail meetings with Rickard since she originally met him last summer in the swimming pool in Madison Square Garden," Mr. Pecora said tonight. "She met him nearly every day, she says, in an office in the building. She was admitted to the garden and swimming pool free. Nellie knew Alice Ruck, the original complainant against Rickard."

STUDENTS NEED 'MENTAL BUDGET,' MORTENSON SAYS

"Mental budget" for students was urged yesterday by Superintendent of Schools Peter A. Mortenson, speaking at the freshman reception of the Medill Junior college.

"The budget should consist of the things the student wishes to accomplish, and should be made up in order that he or she may have always a definite program in mind," he said. "Scattered efforts do not bring rewards, and the drifter, the student without ultimate objects, will never accomplish much."

Coins Like These Should Not Be Used in Your Telephone

Coin-box telephone users and users of public telephones are urged to avoid the use of bent, broken, mashed, mutilated, sticky or worn-out coins, as these are liable to stick in the coin slot or, if they pass into the box, may fail to work the electrical mechanism which calls the operators. When one coin sticks, those put in later likewise stick and the box becomes choked up and the telephone is out of service.

We are obliged to clear more than 1000 cases of trouble every month due to the use of defective coins. In every case this means a telephone out of service to the user.

Think what this would mean if you needed your telephone in an emergency!

Use only perfect coins or slugs in your telephones.

OPEN DISCUSSION OF INCOME TAX LEVY IN ILLINOIS

Program Renewed After Long Delays.

BY E. Q. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—The Illinois constitutional convention settled down to business today after two years of scrapping over the revision of Cook county's legislative representation.

Yesterday's compromise, whereby the metropolis is restrained to one-third of the senate of fifty-seven and a house that prevents a Cook county majority within the coming thirty years, appeared to be satisfactory all around, and the delegates resumed constructive work on the new constitution at the point where they quit when the legislative fight started in 1920.

Take Up Income Tax.

The revenue article was under consideration all of today and is set for further debate tomorrow. Today's procedure carried the article through the consideration concerning the levy of a state income tax. The pending proposal is that offered by Delegate Gale of Galena, authorizing the levy of a state income tax, as follows:

"Article 3, section 1.—The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended, nor contracted away. Taxes shall be levied and collected only under general laws and for public purposes. No income taxes shall be levied except at a uniform rate, with exemption of not more than $2,000 of annual income to any one person or corporation."

One Amendment Made.

Delegate Hamill of Cook county offered an amendment to eliminate a minimum exemption of $500, and this was adopted. Delegate Nichols of Ogle county offered an amendment removing from the legislature any option of making exemptions, which was defeated, 15 to 35.

During the morning session Delegate Gale, chairman of the revenue committee, explained in detail the scope of the proposed article as prepared by the committee, but the rules committee of the convention provided this morning that action would be taken this week only on the first four sections of the article, thereby deferring consideration of the main features until next Tuesday.

83 Die from Pneumonia, 24 from Flu, in N. Y. Epidemic

New York, Feb. 8.—The largest number of cases of influenza and pneumonia in the present epidemic was reported to the health department today. There were 1,316 cases of "flu," as compared with 1,104 yesterday. Pneumonia cases totaled 342, against 218 yesterday. Twenty-five deaths resulted from influenza today and 83 from pneumonia.

LANDIS REBUKES COL. CLINNIN FOR QUASHING A CASE

Charge He Dropped
Indictment.

METTER LINKER.

United States District Attorney Charles F. Clynne has been called into open court by a federal judge and asked to explain alleged irregularities in the performance of his duties. Judge Landis yesterday ordered before him Col. John V. Clinnin, first assistant district attorney, and Meyer Linker, former assistant to Mr. Clynne.

Judge Landis said the action was taken when he learned that an indictment voted by the grand jury in 1919 against Thomas L. Latta, Jerry J. Hassell, and Fred A. Feller had been nolle prossed.

The trio was charged with obstructing a deputy marshal from serving a subpoena issued by the court.

Mr. Linker was assigned by Mr. Clynne to prosecute the case. It was said. Shortly after, an attorney came to Mr. Linker and suggested that the indictment be nolle prossed, said Mr. Linker.

He then went to Col. Clinnin, who is said to have advised Mr. Linker that if he could consistently nolle pross the case that he could see no wrong in doing so.

Judge Landis told the two men yesterday that if an indictment is voted by the grand jury it must not be nolle prossed. He then ordered the clerk of the district attorney's office to get the witnesses in the case together, and ordered Col. Clinnin to take the matter before the grand jury in the near future.

COST OF BONUS FOR YEAR PLACED AT $350,000,000

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—A tentative estimate of $350,000,000 yearly as the amount of special taxes that must be laid to finance the cash feature of the proposed soldier bonus legislation was made today at an executive session of majority members of the house ways and means committee. The exact amount that is to be determined on and the sources from which it must come will be taken up tomorrow by a subcommittee headed by Chairman Fordney.

Committeemen said it was not the intention to rely on any part, either of the interest or principal of the British or other foreign debts, in connection with the bonus. They said that something around $350,000,000 a year would take care of the cash payments to be made over the two and one-half years period, beginning Jan. 1, 1923, and that the finding of definite and certain sources from which to obtain this amount was their immediate concern.

Republican members of the ways and means committee today agreed that the revenue to meet the bonus should be raised from various miscellaneous taxes, but reached no decision as to just what these should be.

Special taxes which were discussed included an increase in taxes on tobacco and cigars, an increase in first and second class postage rates, a federal automobile license tax based on horsepower, a tax on gasoline, a tax on real estate transactions, a tax on stock and bond transfers, and a tax on bank checks.

Representative Fordney, chairman of the ways and means committee, said that he favored an increased tax on tobacco and cigars, a tax on real estate transactions, and a tax on stock and bond transfers. He indicated, however, that he was in accord with the views of Secretary Mellon, who urged that if a tax is imposed on the transfer of stocks and bonds it be made so light as not to interfere with the sale of securities.

CONFERENCE ON ARMS LAUDED BY SENATOR PEPPER

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8.—The Washington arms conference was declared by Senator George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania at a Republican gathering here tonight to be a greater success than the Versailles peace conference.

Asserting that the Washington conference treaties were not "isolated documents," but "interrelated in such a way as to be parts of a great plan for dealing with international problems," Mr. Pepper, in his address, the first since he took his seat in the senate, replied to the recent speech of former Gov. Cox of Ohio, Democratic presidential candidate, in support of the league of nations.

"If you ever ask me to make a comparative exhibit of Republican and Democratic achievement," said Senator Pepper, "you will do well to compare the splendid outcome of a conference modestly undertaken in the proper spirit with the futility of a grandiose scheme that was bad in conception and worse in execution."

Representative Fordney, chairman of the ways and means committee, said that he favored an increased tax on tobacco and cigars, a tax on real estate transactions, and a tax on stock and bond transfers. He indicated, however, that he was in accord with the views of Secretary Mellon, who urged that if a tax is imposed on the transfer of stocks and bonds it be made so light as not to interfere with the sale of securities.

PAL MOORELL; TAYLOR TO MEET KELLY ON BOAT

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of The Tribune boxing representatives are:
At New Orleans—Eddie Palmer knocked out Batling Freddie [2].
At Columbus, O.—Eddie O'Dowd beat Bobby Dyson [12].

BY WALTER ECKERSALL

Following the unexpected illness of Pal Moore, local bantamweight, who is confined to his bed with an attack of pneumonia, Phil Collins, matchmaker and referee for the Naval post of the American Legion, has substituted Bud Taylor of Terre Haute to meet Jimmy Kelly in the main event of the show aboard the U. S. S. Commodore Tompkins tomorrow night.

Moore was taken with a big fever following his workout at the arcade last Tuesday. When he returned to his home he had a temperature of 105, and physicians immediately gave him orders to call off all abouts and prepare to rest for three weeks.

Taylor a Good Substitute.
Taylor is an excellent substitute. He had been matched to box Kelly at La Salle on Feb. 23, but Manager Long took advantage of the opportunity to show Bud to local fans by taking the match on the boat. Taylor has won all his recent starts. The fighters will meet at catchweights, but neither will be heavier than 115 pounds.

Can remainder of the card will be the same as advertised. Fans who have already purchased tickets expecting to see Moore in action may get their money back, but all such exchanges must be made before 6 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Tate Trains for Matches.
Bill Tate, colored heavyweight champion, yesterday returned from Memphis, where he defeated Battling Owens of New Orleans in the second round last Monday night. Tate will resume training at the Arcade today for several pending matches.

Boxers and boxing fans turned out in large numbers at the benefited George Corbett at the Varsity hall last Tuesday night. About $1,000 was realized for the little fighter who recently had his jaw broken in a bout with Bud Taylor.

Kid Howard, owner of the Arcade gymnasium, has arranged an invective amateur boxing tourney with Memphis. Howard will select a team of experts from his gymnasium to meet a similar aggregation selected by Billy Haak, Memphis promoter, in the Tennessee city. The tentative date is March 12.

TOM GIBBONS TO BOX HARRY GREB IN N. Y. MARCH 13

New York, Feb. 8.—Tom Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight, and Harry Greb of Pittsburgh have been matched for a fifteen round decision bout in Madison Square Garden, March 13. Articles were signed here today.

The bout on March 13, it is understood, will be the first of an elimination series to determine the next American opponent for Georges Carpentier.

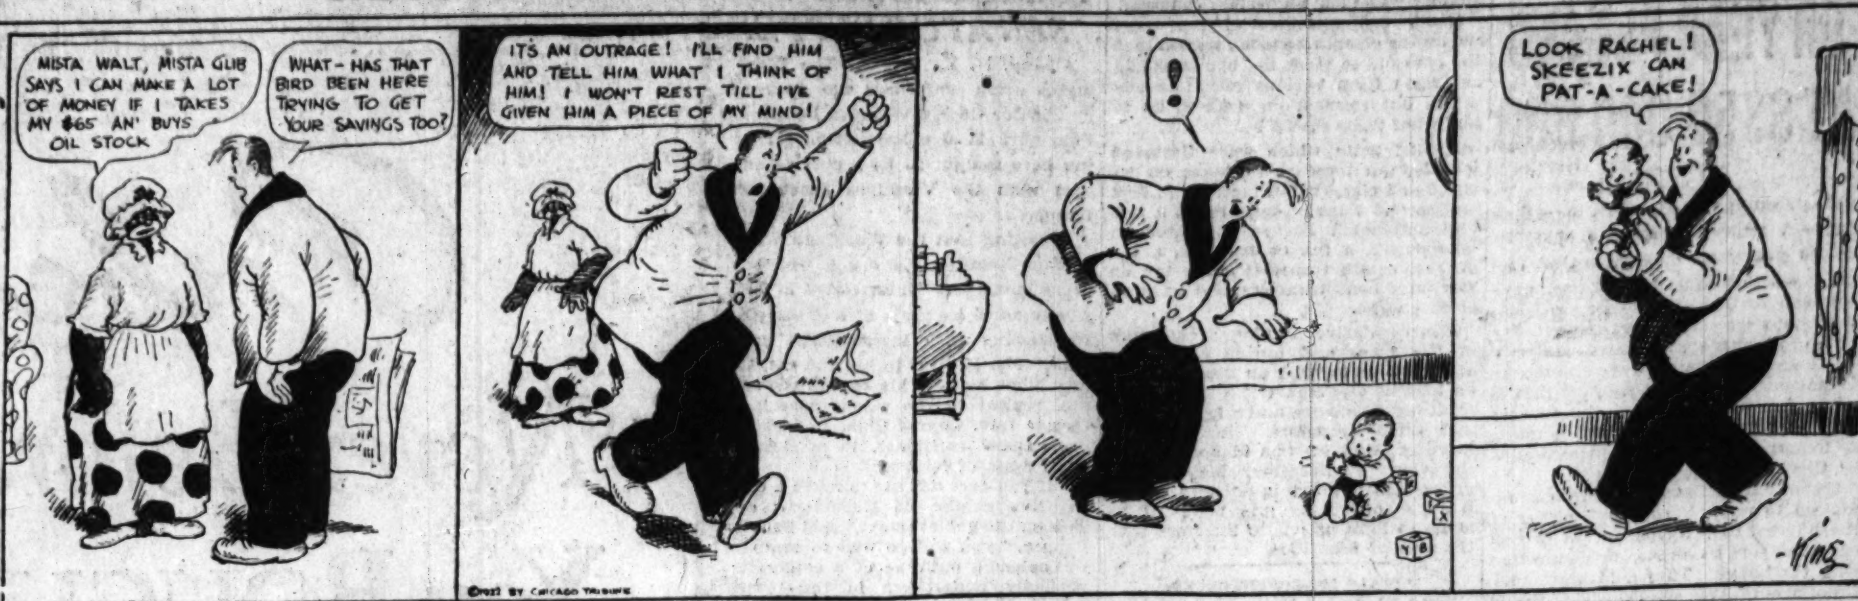

The winner of the Gibbons-Greb bout will be matched with Tunney, and the victor will meet Carpenter.

JOE RAY TAKES
DASH TO 'MURCH'
New York, Feb. 8.—Joe Ray of Illinois A. C. captured the 3,000 meters race at the indoor games of the Barnack A. A. here tonight, with Max Boland, New York, unattached runner, second, and B. A. French, also of the I. A. C., third. Ray's time was 8:42.5. The little Chicagoan kept on running to the two mile mark in an effort to set a new mark, but failed to equal his indoor record of 8:11.5, set two weeks ago, when he pulled up in 9:20.45.

Loren Murchison, I. A. C., sprinter, won the 300 yard event in 23.35, and was awarded the McAlpin cup, as this was his third victory in the event. Young Bernie Wefers was second. In the Metropolitan A. A. U. title 100 yard dash, Bill MacAlester, New York police man, won the event in 10, with Wefers second.

HEART DISEASE KILLS BOXER.
Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 8.—Heart disease caused the death of Alfonso Hewitt, colored boxer, who died during a bout with Edward Boyer last Thursday night, according to the coroner's jury. Boyer, who was arrested on a charge of manslaughter, was released.

THE QUESTION DOX.

CHICAGO.—[To the Editor.]—Where do these little animals called moles come from, the skins of which are used in making women's coats?

ANSWER.—For many years the mole skins used in making women's coats have come from England and Scotland. A few years ago the biological survey found the skins of certain species of American moles were of much greater value than those imported. The large Oregon and Washington moles are the most valuable species. It is larger and its fur is better than that of the European species.

Chicago.—[To the Editor.]—1. While fishing in a nearby state last summer I caught (while trolling with minnows) a fish which the guide said was a white bass. It was a silvery colored fish about thirteen inches long and I found it good eating. Is there a white bass, or is this a local name for a certain fish? 2. Is it a true bass and related to the black bass? FRANK M. ANSWER.—Yes, there is a white bass which occurs in the middle west. It is found in Illinois, being fairly abundant in the waters of the central part of the state. 2. The white bass is a true bass, being placed in the sea bass family (Serranidae). In fact, it is one of two species of true bass found in Illinois. The other species is the yellow perch. The white bass is not closely related to the black bass, as the latter belongs to the sunfishes and is not a true bass at all. Hard to believe, isn't it?

ALDERMEN TO GREET CYCLISTS HERE TODAY

Riders who will compose the fourteen teams which will start in the six day bicycle race at the Coliseum on Sunday night will arrive in Chicago today. They will be met at the station by a body of aldermen appointed by the mayor.

The bicycle track will be ready for practice tomorrow and experts claim it will be the fastest ten circuit course ever erected in this country. The city athletic commission yesterday licensed all officials and also levied its assessment of 3 per cent on the gross receipts of the show.

While the commission was in session it developed that Ald. Cermak paid the $50 fine to the National Cycling association which has permitted E. E. Kookler, "the Chicago milkman," to start the race. Kookler will ride under the colors of the Amos A. A. of Lawrence, of which Cermak is sponsor.

Willie Kohl yesterday reported to Manager "Paddy" Harmon that he has been unable to secure a partner and unless some rider happens to drop out before starting time he will not be in the race.

FARM AND GARDEN

GETTING CORN LAND BACK IN CLOVER.

NO longer can the middle west farmer run his farm profitably without including in his crop rotation some legume crop. The falling off in the prices that farmers have been getting during the last few months for grain crops, has stimulated an unusual interest in the growing of clover, alfalfa and similar leguminous crops.

There are several factors that farmers who expect to grow legumes must consider, and according to Prof. W. F. Handschin, University of Illinois, the most important are:

The amount and character of the nitrogen content in the soil as compared with the other plant food elements present. Whether the legume crop to be grown is a heavy or light yielder.

The nature of the nonlegume crops grown. Whether the crop is to be harvested and fed to live stock, and the manure returned to the land and plowed under directly to improve the soil, or whether some combination of these practices is used.

Prof. Handschin advises farmers to follow a definite scheme wherever they can. Here is a common rotation he mentions: Corn, wheat and clover, where corn is decidedly more profitable, which has permitted E. E. Kookler, "the Chicago milkman," to start the race. Kookler will ride under the colors of the Amos A. A. of Lawrence, of which Cermak is sponsor.

Willie Kohl yesterday reported to Manager "Paddy" Harmon that he has been unable to secure a partner and unless some rider happens to drop out before starting time he will not be in the race.

STARS OF A. L. TEAMS TO WIN $1,000 TROPHY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—[Special.]—The season of 1922 will reward eight star ball players in the American league. This was decided today when the clubmen of the organization met here for the annual schedule ratification meeting. A suitable emblem will be awarded the player who has been of the greatest value to his team on the basis of performances on the diamond and conduct off the field at the close of the season. This award is to be made an annual offering.

The decision of the American league magnates to reward the players is a revival of the Chalmers trophy idea, which was discontinued ten years ago.

Committee to Pick Trophy.
President Dan Johnson of the league and Presidents Ruppert and Navin of the New York and Detroit clubs respectively were appointed a committee to select a suitable trophy. The cost of the emblem was fixed at $1,000. Playing managers will not be eligible for the award because in their dual capacities they naturally contribute heavily in the success of their teams.

The magnates were in session three hours, but before getting busy at a hotel were received at the White House by President Harding. The President shook hands all around and congratulated them on the efforts that have been made to make baseball a clean sport. Clark Griffith of the Washington club extended an invitation to the nation's executive to attend the opening game here April 12 with New York and Mr. Harding replied:

"If I am alive I will be there with score card and pencil."

Trade Efforts Fail.
Aside from the player trophy decision, little of importance developed at the league meeting. There was considerable talk of trades, but nothing materialized. The proposed deal between Detroit and New York by which the Yankees would secure Outfielder Veach in exchange for infield talent fell flat.

No action was taken on the draft and will not be until the National league holds its session in New York next week, it was announced.

ROOKIE KEEN READY FOR JAUNT WITH CUBS

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
Howard V. Keen, a rookie pitcher, yesterday notified Cub headquarters that he would be on hand when Manager Killefer starts his first squad for California next Thursday morning.

Keen is a student at Maryland university and by intensive work has been ahead of his college schedule.

Keen not only pitched for the Maryland varsity team but performed in semi-pro circles around Philadelphia, where the Cubs found him last season, after thirty straight victories. He is a right hander.

Harry Grabiner, the White Sox secretary, announced yesterday that "Brick" Owens, American league umpire, had been engaged to work with Bill Klem of the National staff in the Sox-Giants exhibition series.

When the question of Meyers losing his title came up, Manager Ed White asserted a champion cannot lose his title unless there is a stipulation of weight. This point was left to the city athletic commission, which will call the principals together for a conference before the match. If the principals cannot agree upon a referee, the commission will appoint one.

Members of the city council will attend the Plestina-Freberg wrestling show in a body on Feb. 14 at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium. Promoter Doc Krone yesterday, after a conference with the city athletic commission chiefs, made the arrangements. It being decided that the city fathers be given a chance to see what work has been accomplished by the commission in putting wrestling back on its feet.

The Plestina-Freberg bout will be the first heavyweight contest held under the new White round system and, for that reason, will be virtually the test of the game.

Think Freberg Will Win.
There is a growing conviction among the Swedish wrestling fans that Freberg will win from Plestina. Freberg, like Plestina, has been angling for a bout with the top notchers for the last few years, and his showing Feb. 14 will largely determine whether he is entitled to a chance at the championship.

Gene Le Marquer, the French grappler, is expected in Chicago today or tomorrow, when he is expected to sign up for a bout with Bill Demetral.

Mullen Gets Middleweight Bout.
Articles were signed yesterday and forfeits posted binding the wrestling match between Johnny Meyers, claimant of the middleweight title, and Heine Engel of Dubuque, Ia. The tentative date is March 2. The site will be decided within a few days. The match was given to Jim Mullen.

When the question of Meyers losing his title came up, Manager Ed White asserted a champion cannot lose his title unless there is a stipulation of weight. This point was left to the city athletic commission, which will call the principals together for a conference before the match. If the principals cannot agree upon a referee, the commission will appoint one.

Members of the city council will attend the Plestina-Freberg wrestling show in a body on Feb. 14 at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium. Promoter Doc Krone yesterday, after a conference with the city athletic commission chiefs, made the arrangements. It being decided that the city fathers be given a chance to see what work has been accomplished by the commission in putting wrestling back on its feet.

The Plestina-Freberg bout will be the first heavyweight contest held under the new White round system and, for that reason, will be virtually the test of the game.

Longer Gown Both
Skirt and Waist

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondent.)—Much more than knee deep lies the winter skirt. At the average woman is accepting her doom, and, although up to this time only the extremely fashionable have been practicing the long skirt, there is every indication that by spring it will be as popular as a sock. Many of the new skirts are full and, indeed, circular. Some of them go back to the old system of having those cornucopian folds at the side—the kind that jut out on the hips. The fact of it is that the waistline is being cut down—apparently the woman's limit—and this necessitates the lengthened skirt. For nothing could be more grotesque than a bodice as short as a Kipling one. Sleeves go on in their own free and easy way. The tendency is, however, toward more slenderness at the top, flaring into a vast wrist drape. Often hands of contrasting material vary these sleeves, and frequently they are made entirely of the trimming stuff. The latter system is followed in the simple but effective dinner dress of French blue crepe lisse combined with self-color Venetian lace shown today.

Bonnet's Bach Shows Him Organist of International Worth

It is only necessary to hear Joseph Bonnet play Bach to realize where the organ stands among the great solo instruments. He appeared at Orchestra Hall last night as assisting artist in the concert given by the Sunday Evening club choir, and made a complete demonstration of the matter.

The G minor prelude and fugue was the piece chosen. After hearing it one may be certain that all piano arrangements thereof are little short of impertinences. The sheer weight of tone from the organ gives it a stately dignity or which nothing else can compensate. In comparison a piano version sounds merely tussy.

This was the only Bach number played by Mr. Bonnet. Other parts of his program included Palestrina, Eric De Lamarter's "A Stately Procession," which was both brilliant and turgid, and other works by Franck, Chopin, and Widor. He is one of the great players of the world and he proved it, handicapped though he was by appearing at an instrument several degrees out of tune.

Jessie Christian, the other assisting artist, won loud applause through her performance of the "Bell Song" from "Lakme." Formerly a member of the Chicago Opera Association, she displayed a flexible voice of excellent quality and profound study of the dramatic values of the aria.

At other times she appeared with the chorus, which gave an earnest rendition of Bach's "Ave Verum" and a lighter touch on Debussy's "Listen to the Lullaby." Other numbers without solo parts were by Arcadi, Tchaikowsky, Wagner, Elgar, Clarence Dickinson, and others. The chorus, numbering about 100, showed evidence of careful training. Edgar Nelson is the conductor. As its name indicates, it sings ordinarily on Sunday evenings, and not indicated in the title, at Orchestra hall.

Junior Friends of Art.
The Junior Friends of Art will meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Arts club. Mrs. Mary Oberdorfer will speak on "What Is Good Music?" Miss Genevieve Tobin will sing and Miss Wally Heymar will give violin selections. Tea will be served.

REPORT PERJURY CHARGE VOTED FOR BONDSMAN

Edgar A. Jonas, first assistant state's attorney, went before the grand jury yesterday with evidence against Louis Asher, whose activities as a professional bondman came to light following the murder of Detective Sergeant Charles Faldina by Edward Newman, Asher had signed Newman's bond, which was forfeited, and Faldina was killed when he attempted to rearrest the defendant.

EDGAR A. JONAS.

After hearing the evidence against Asher, the grand jury, it is reported, voted a true bill charging him with perjury in connection with an affidavit he had signed to get another bond forfeited against him set aside. The latter bond was signed by Asher in the summer of 1920, to effect the release of Mrs. Lucille Hanley, alleged chloroform burglar, who is now in the county jail awaiting trial. The bond was ordered forfeited on Dec. 10, 1920, and on Jan. 27, 1921, Asher made an affidavit that Mrs. Hanley was a prisoner in a penitentiary in Canada and consequently he was unable to produce her.

On his representation the forfeiture was set aside, but yesterday Mrs. Hanley testified before the grand jury that she had never been in Canada, and that, in fact, "she didn't know enough about geography to tell where Canada was located."

Mr. Jonas also announced that an investigation of the activities of Mrs. Marie Louise Petrona in the bond business was under way.

Fashion Notes from the Costume Room

Concerning Necklines

High front and back seems to be the verdict for evening frocks, and no

Can Sleeves Grow More Interesting?

They can! They have! Not a frock that comes in but illustrates their versatility

THE VENGEANCE OF HENRY JARROMAN

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.
Henry Jarroman, released from prison, to which he was sentenced twenty years before for the murder of Charles Eddie, learns that John Camden, his one time friend, who stole his wife, killed Eddie, and his embittered heart bids him make Camden's daughter a victim. The girl believes her name to be Nadia Quest. She is employed as a typist by the Hon. Wilfred Stranack. He loves her and asks her to marry him. Lord Doucester, his father, is startled when he recognizes a ring Nadia wears and knows who she is.

Claudia Crayne, the wife who dishonored and deserted Jarroman and their young daughter, is the proprietor of a smart gambling establishment. Theed, Jarroman's rascally solicitor, visits her and tells her Jarroman desires to find his daughter. They conspire to substitute Nadia for the real daughter, with the idea of getting Jarroman's fortune. Theed, his daughter, and Jarroman together, with the idea of getting Jarroman's fortune. Theed, his daughter, and Jarroman together, with the idea of getting Jarroman's fortune.

Stranack comes down to renew his suit, but Nadia refuses to marry him. Claudia offers to act as Nadia's chaperon, but Nadia declines. Jarroman and Nadia have Brighton to visit Doucester house. Nadia consents to marry Stranack.

INSTALLMENT XXXIII.
"I have brought my brief bag with me, as you see," said Theed benevolently. He assumed the air of master of the ceremonies, placed his bag on a low table, took some documents from it, and cleared his throat unnecessarily.

"I don't think I need say much," he began, without having indicated the necessity for his saying anything at all. "I am sure you must all be aware of the object for which Mr. Jarroman—" Theed bowed to his host—"invited me to be present."

"My daughter doesn't know," said Jarroman dryly. "Nor, I believe, does Mr. Stranack."

"Then I will give myself the felicity of explaining," said Theed, beaming on Nadia, and then turned to the company in general.

"Mr. Jarroman approached me some little time ago and explained that he wished his daughter to be financially independent in her forthcoming marriage—an extremely wise provision, if I may be allowed to say so, which, experience has proved, makes for the happiest kind of union. To that end I received Mr. Jarroman's letter of instructions to prepare a marriage settlement by which a portion of his estate will be segregated in such a manner as to allow Miss Jarroman—or Mrs. Stranack, as she will then be—an income of fifteen thousand pounds per annum."

Lady Doucester's eyes were downcast, but her fingers tapped against the arms of her chair in quick excitement. Lord Doucester's expression of gratified surprise was quite perfect.

Stranack, after one quick look at Nadia, was sitting motionless, his hands clasped between his knees. Nadia was staring at Theed, and her face was clouded with distaste. She seemed not to have grasped his announcement.

"There are no conditions attached to the settlement," continued Theed. "The consideration—as you all know, every property must contain a consideration—the consideration in this case is merely the fact of relationship. That is to say, the settlement is made solely through the fact that the lady is her father's daughter. If you will allow me, I will now read it through," he said, and then:

"I shall now require the signature of Miss Jarroman, of her father, and those of a couple of noninterested parties as witnesses. If Lord and Lady Doucester would oblige, the transaction would be complete."

He bowed to Nadia and proffered her a fountain pen. She made no attempt to take it.

"Would you prefer your father to sign first?" suggested Theed. Nadia looked at Jarroman, and shook her head. Stranack moved slightly toward her.

"It is not that," she said with difficulty. "I—I hardly know how to put it, but—"

"I think I understand," put in Stranack. He addressed Jarroman more directly. "You've done such a terrific lot already, sir, that Nadia—that we feel this last is really too much."

"Father, dear," said Nadia. She crossed the room to where he was sitting and bent over him till he could feel the thudding of her heart beneath the soft transparency of her gown.

"Touching—extremely touching," whispered Theed loudly to the pen he was still holding. Every one ignored him.

"I'd no idea you were going to do this for us," Nadia was saying. "or we could have told you that, though we love you for thinking it, we'd rather not owe you so much. We want—Wilfred wants to make his way by his own efforts. I can't explain it without seeming an ungrateful pig, but—"

"On the contrary, I quite understand your point of view," Jarroman assured her quietly as Stranack was about to add his confirmation of her words. He was silent for a moment. Her hand was on his shoulder and he was absently conscious of it. He looked from Stranack, embarrassed and incoherent, to the genuinely perturbed Doucesters, and from them to Theed, who was staring at Nadia with a curious intensity. The chaos in Jarroman's mind suddenly resolved itself into irritation with Theed. Damn the fellow! What had Nadia's affairs to do with him, anyway?

He pulled himself together; how used he must have grown to success if a slight check in his plans even threw him even tentatively out of gear!

He became again the indulgent parent, confident of affection.

"I quite understand your point of view," he repeated, "but I should like to make my own clear to you. You know, my dearest child—" he hand covered Nadia's—"how nearly my past—spoiled your life for you. I think we have barred it out of your future as thoroughly as is possible, but the danger of its discovery must always be a cloud, however small, upon your happiness. I want you to let me compensate you for that."

"There is the house to do that already," faltered Nadia. He saw that his tone had brought tears to her eyes.

"Then accept the other little gift as a sign that you bear me no ill will for the last twenty years, my love, and that you are turning away from her emotion, he advanced toward Stranack. "If you wish to regard it as a present to Nadia alone, you are, of course, at liberty to do so; but I hope you will not consider that necessary."

"I have yet another duty to perform of an equally pleasurable nature," he added, as they were recovering from the strain. "A moment ago Miss Jarroman mentioned the house situated at No. 7 Crescent street, west, which her father acquired with a view to presenting it to her on the occasion of her marriage. Now one cannot make a present of a house as one makes a present of a silver toilet rack. A house has to be properly conveyed by means of a deed of gift. I have here the deed of gift which refers to No. 7 Crescent street—a present from the bride's father to the bride—and in this deed of gift the consideration is the same as in the settlement—that is, the relationship. The gift, like the settlement, is entirely unconditional. Miss Jarroman will be at liberty to live in the house, to let it, to mortgage it, or to sell it. It is to be her own undisputed possession. Now, Miss Jarroman, we shall want your signature again, if you please."

He tried to realize that the last of the wheels had been set in motion; that in three days he would be ready for the truth to be discovered by Segrove—the cleverest detective living, that said—but to him a mere mechanical device with which to strike the blow.

He laughed silently. Stranack, the Doucesters, Theed—what were they, any of them, but mechanical devices to drive the blow home?

The parlor maid knocked and entered, bringing him a postal packet. He recognized Segrove's seal.

He opened it with fingers that fumbled. Whenever a report arrived, Jarroman feared the detective had come too quickly to the end of the trail that had been so cunningly biased for him, feared that the man's amazing evidence had been so cunningly biased for him, feared that the man's amazing evidence had been so cunningly biased for him.

Jarroman began to read eagerly. A covering letter from Segrove gave him the pith of the report.

"My agent in Canada obtained the evidence of the man Bisset on oath. In the event of your desiring to seek a re-trial, this evidence would have full legal weight."

"You will see from the perusal of the enclosed that he confirms what he said to you in the first instance on all important points. It is not my province to advise you as to the exact legal value of his evidence, but as an investigator, I consider that there is strong circumstantial evidence can be strengthened, and upon there is one line only along which the evidence merely goes to prove that John Camden returned to Eddie's flat in circumstances in which he could easily have killed him. Bisset does not dispose of the suggestion which would certainly have him. Bisset does not dispose of the suggestion which would certainly have him.

Bisset does not dispose of the suggestion which would certainly have him. Bisset does not dispose of the suggestion which would certainly have him. Bisset does not dispose of the suggestion which would certainly have him.

GIRL TELLS OF BEING TORTURED FOR CONFESSION

Accuses Doctor and His Two Sons.

Testimony that she was tortured by Dr. George V. Lipschultz and his two sons, Jehli and Caesar, was given yesterday before a jury in Judge Philip L. Sullivan's court by Miss Mamie McCray, a colored girl, who was employed as maid by the family. The defendants are charged with attempt to commit murder.

According to her story, the maid was working at the doctor's home, 4201 West Roosevelt road, in September, 1921, when some jewels were missed. The physician and his sons tried to force her to admit she had stolen them by torturing her, she said.

The doctor and his sons smiled when the woman started her tale. A few moments later their heads were bowed.

Put Revolver in Mouth.
"They removed my clothes—tore them off," said the maid. "They tied me in a chair. They put a rope around my neck and attempted to choke me. They threw hot ashes on my breast. They flourished a revolver before my face. They discharged the revolver. Then they put the revolver in my mouth and threatened to kill me."

The witness halted. "Go on with your story," said an assistant state's attorney.

She showed her skeleton. "The shouter at me, yelled at me to confess. They took me to a closet and showed me a skeleton and clotted its bones. 'That's what's left of another girl who stole from us,' they said."

The police arrived while the alleged tortures were being inflicted—made a thorough investigation. The arrest and indictments of the doctor and his sons followed. The state will present additional evidence against the defendants today.

ARMENIAN BISHOP HERE TO PREACH TO COUNTRYMEN

Bishop Tirayre, Armenian, arrived in Chicago yesterday and will preach in his native language to Armenians in the city.

At St. Andrew's Episcopal church, Washington boulevard and North Robey street, at 7 o'clock next Sunday afternoon.

The bishop came to America from Erevan, Armenia, eleven months ago and has ecclesiastical jurisdiction over the estimated 150,000 Armenians now in the United States. (TRIBUNE PHOTO.)

"I am indeed thankful," he said yesterday, "for the great aid America has extended to my countrymen—my unfortunate people—in the years past. We in Armenia shall be grateful and our children's children shall be grateful for all you have done for us."

Found Guilty, Gets New Trial on State's Errors
William "Chubby" Lardner, who, despite numerous convictions on charges of robbery and larceny, has escaped serving time in any place except the House of Correction, had another narrow escape yesterday. He was found guilty by a jury in Judge Scanlan's court, but the judge was forced to give him a new trial because of errors committed by Assistant State's Attorney Edgar Cook.

BEG YOUR PARDON
On Feb. 2 THE TRIBUNE printed a story concerning the arrest of E. Harman Neis, 324 South Washtenaw avenue, for selling stock in a breeding farm in Virginia which he did not own, in which it was stated that the Rev. Julius E. De Vos, pastor of St. John Berchmans' church, 2517 Logan boulevard, and a number of his parishioners were said to be interested in the proposition. The Rev. Mr. De Vos denies he invested in the stock or induced any other person to do so. The information was sent out by the City News Bureau.

SCHWARTZ BARES CITY HALL GIFT TO "L" COMPANY

Another bit of evidence proving that the Lundin-Thompson "struggle" for 5 cent fares on the "L" lines is a sham battle came out at yesterday's meeting of the city council.

Ald. U. S. Schwartz, chairman of the local transportation committee, charged that Commissioner of Public Works Francis issued permits for the addition of several thousand square feet to downtown elevated platforms without the knowledge or consent of the city council and in violation of two city ordinances.

He presented an order directing Mr. Francis and Chief Fitzmorris to stop work on the platforms pending an inquiry by the traction committee and an opinion from the city law department on the car-rider's rights in the matter.

But administration adherents combined to defeat the motion, sending the order to committee. Those who voted "No" were Aldermen Jackson, L. B. Anderson, Mulcahy, Johnstry, Mademore, Cermak, Horne, Kalndi, Shaffer, Powers, Fick, Agnew, Armistead, O'Toole, Garner and S. M. Hogan.

R. R. MAN ADMITS 'SHAKING DOWN' BATHHOUSES
Charles L. Cain, 4216 West End avenue, a fireman employed by the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, confessed yesterday to First Assistant State's Attorney Edgar A. Jonas that he had been "shaking down" owners of bath and massage parlors, representing himself as a "collector" for State's Attorney Crowe and Chief of Police Fitzmorris.

The specific charge against Cain is that he collected $400 from Edna Mantel, proprietor of a massage parlor at 4127 Indiana avenue. The state's attorney issued a statement yesterday saying no one from his office is authorized to collect money and should be arrested if he attempts to do so.

Illinois Plan for Freight Rate Cuts to Be Taken Up
The interstate commerce commission will consider ways of making freight rate reductions proposed by the Illinois Manufacturers' association. It was announced yesterday in a telegram from the commission to the association.

'T'WAS SAD SCENE, BUT COURT SAVED COAT FOR DANCER

A great silence fell upon the courtroom. The barrister ceased his pleading. A ballroom closed a window, shutting out the thunders of Clark street. Judge Joseph Sabath brushed his eyes with a white handkerchief.

There in an open court, tears flowing, Harry Vernon, dancing tenor whose apparel is the neatest and most up to date in the city, was slipping from his double-breasted shepherd plaid coat.

"Ah, Mr. Attorney—ah—" there was a quiver in his voice. "Ah—take it—take it." He placed the beautiful thing on the bar before the lawyer.

Now, all this was occasioned by the attorney who was in the service of Mrs. Marguerite Grey Vernon, the dancer's wife. The attorney had come to court with Mrs. Vernon to show why the weekly payment of alimony by Mr. Vernon should not be decreased from $37.50 to $15. The lawyer had just asked for $200 solicitor's fees. It was then silence fell and the actor made his supreme offering.

Judge Saves Loved Garment.
"Put on your coat," ordered Judge Sabath. "I will not give counsel $200. I will only give him $100."

"I can keep the coat?" Vernon asked. The judge nodded. "You say I can keep it. Ah, there is a silver lining, then. This law person might as well have asked for my coat as for $200."

It was but one of several rebuffs Mr. Vernon, who admits being the city's classiest dancer, met during the day. The day before he explained why he should pay only $15 a week alimony. But yesterday his wife had her inning.

"He never came home until daylight," she said. "He was never sober. Mean, mean. He never gave me any clothes. He never caressed the baby. He had 'that woman in my home!'"

"You say he never bought you clothes?" asked the judge. "Why not?"

"First he must clothe himself. A ripple went over the courtroom. "But he wasn't the best dressed man in town. He wore one tuxedo for more than two years. He—wasn't the best dressed man by a long way."

How He Got His Drinks.
"Know how he got the drinks?" asked Mrs. Vernon. "I shall tell you. He goes from table to table as he sings. He raises his eye and glances at the gin filled glass before the customer. If there is a girl at the table the rum never falls. That's how he got the drinks."

The judge then decided that the pair could be reconciled. He took them into his chambers. A few moments he was on the bench again. He had failed.

"The alimony will be cut from $37.50 to $20 because Mr. Vernon has no job at present," he said. "The mother has custody of the child. She shall not visit the cafe where her husband is working. He shall not bother her. That is all."

10,000 VACANT HOMES ON MAY 2 WILL SLASH RENTS, EXPERT SAYS

Rents are coming down on May 2, 1922, when 10,000 habitations in Chicago will be vacant.

This is the prediction of Franklin Hobbs, Chicago statistician, who declares there is no housing problem.

"More habitations were erected in 1921 than ever before in history," said Mr. Hobbs. "There may have been fewer houses, but hotels erected more than make that up. Chicago has doubled its hotel capacity in the last three years."

"Because of hard times newlyweds aren't buying love nests. They keep on living with father."

"Rents will come down because landlords will be able to rent only by making concessions."

The fact that there are 530,333 more married men than married women in the United States, stated in a bulletin to be issued by Mr. Hobbs to various banks today, was explained by Frederick Rex, head of the municipal reference library.

"Why, that doesn't mean that there are half a million women bachelors in the United States," laughed Mr. Rex. "It means that many foreigners have come over, but have left their wives behind."

LET THE SPITTER BEWARE; POLICE ARE AFTER HIM
With a "flu" epidemic still hovering over the city, Health Commissioner Bundesen began a campaign against "promiscuous spitting" yesterday. He called a conference of Chicago theater owners to ask cooperation in combating the disease.

The motion picture theater owners will run the following slide in all theaters beginning Friday:

"Guard against a cold and you prevent pneumonia."

"Do not cough or sneeze in the presence of others, unless you cover your mouth and nose with a handkerchief."

"Do not spit in public."

Dr. Bundesen warned that Chief Fitzmorris will be asked to make wholesale arrests for violations of the anti-spitting ordinance.

There is a girl at the table the rum never falls. That's how he got the drinks."

The judge then decided that the pair could be reconciled. He took them into his chambers. A few moments he was on the bench again. He had failed.

REPLACE OPERA FOR FEW WITH OPERA FOR ALL

'Brows' No Longer Control Chicago Company.

Opera for the "brows" is through in Chicago. From now on it is going to be opera for the ears of the multitude. Money is going to talk loud-er than society's whims and repertoires are to be based on box office books rather than upon freakish ideas of music lovers.

Samuel Insull, chairman of the finance committee of the new Civic Opera association, made a statement in an address at the Arts club to the committee of women helping to raise guarantees to taking $250,000. Mr. Insull stated that not one contract has been signed as yet for next season and that none will be until the $500,000 guarantee has been pledged for a five year period.

Box Office Rules.
"We are not going to let any set of people ride their 'isms' at the expense of the balance sheet," he said. "We shall consider every person's viewpoint, but we are not going to spend large sums in catering to any one group as to the class of opera to be produced. Everything will be considered with a view to its effect upon the box office."

Mr. Insull thanked the small group of guarantors who have made opera possible in Chicago in the past. He pointed out that it took New York thirty-five years to make opera self-supporting and expressed confidence that it will not take Chicago as long.

Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, who, with Harold F. McCormick, has agreed to make up more than $500,000 deficit for the last season, announced a $1,000 a year will comprise her entire contribution to opera for the next five years.

"I am very glad to be able to tell you that yesterday I signed my guarantor's card for $1,000 a year for five years," she said. "I am stepping down now from one of the few who have carried opera along for Chicago while opera was a baby, and I am now one of the citizens—a member of the Civic Opera association. It has been brought to my attention that many persons do not understand that I have withdrawn from financing opera in a large financial way, but I am not withdrawing my love or interest in opera in Chicago."

Help of Every One Asked.
Mrs. Arthur Meeker thanked Mr. Insull for the time and labor which he has given to the opera's affairs, and Mrs. Julius Rosenwald urged the members of the committee not to use the telephone in soliciting subscribers but "see everybody personally and follow through."

Mrs. Jacob Baur, chairman of the committee, who presided, extended an invitation for any women who are interested in opera to aid the committee either by personal work or suggestions.

"We want it understood that this is a civic association, an organization of everybody and not exclusive in any sense of the word," she said. "We are a committee of 193 but we have 113 members now and will be glad to have as many more as care to work. We shall also be glad to receive helpful suggestions from any one who cares to visit our headquarters at the Arts club."

Both Mr. Insull and Mrs. Baur expressed the hope that the remaining $250,000 will be pledged within the next thirty days, but that has not been set as an arbitrary time limit for the drive.

GAS COMPANY ASKS RIGHT TO RECOUP LOSSES
Should the public make a return for the use which they have had of the gas properties gratis for the last three years?

An answer to this question is the principal one sought in a petition for a rehearing on three legal points filed yesterday by the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company with the Illinois commerce commission. The company is not protesting against the new rates of $1.95 cents, and 90 cents which have been made effective. The chief point is whether it is entitled to recoup the loss of $12,000,000 which the stockholders suffered during the three years in which no dividends were paid.

Another point deals with the construction of the law which says a rate shall not be changed for two years.

Parents and flit fans will enjoy this BLUE RIBBON story of the first baby.

WHEAT LEADS IN PRICE ADVANCE ON CROP SCARE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A crop scare is on in the wheat market, and after prices had dropped 1 1/2c in the early trading a wave of buying headed by houses with eastern connections swept everything before it and carried July up to $1.16, a new high on the crop, and May to $1.11, the best figure on the present uptick. Closing traders were within a fraction of the top, with net gains of 2 1/4c for July and 1 1/2c for May. Coarse grains showed a heavy undertone early but rallied with wheat and closed with corn 1 1/4c and oats 1/2c higher, while rye was up 1/4c to 2 1/2c.

Lower foreign markets, with Liverpool off 2 1/2c and Buenos Ayres 4c lower, combined with profit taking, was responsible for the early decline. At the inside May was off 1/4c from the previous high, and July 1/2c. There was an excellent class of buying on the decline, which absorbed the surplus in the pit, and when reports of dust and sandstorms commenced to enter from Kansas and early sellers started to buy, there was quickly discovered that there was little for sale.

July Up Nearly 1 Cent.

Houses that usually act for some of the largest New York speculators headed the buying on the way up and above $1.12 for July, numerous stop loss orders were uncovered which assisted in making the advance. It was almost impossible at times to execute stop orders at limits, and at the top July showed 1/2c over the early low and May 4c.

Speculative interest is now centered mainly in the July. At one time during the day the blackboard showed it only 1 1/2c under the May, against 1 1/2c under at the extreme the previous day.

Cash Houses Sell Corn.

Cash houses were free sellers of corn early, hedging against wheat purchases to arrive from the country, and the undertone was heavy the greater part of the day, the closing strength being entirely in sympathy with wheat. Rains were reported in Argentina, where they were much needed. Oats were dull and heavy, and in the main followed corn.

A good export demand was reported for rye at the seaboard, and houses with eastern connections bought futures freely. Rye cargo was confirmed as sold at the seaboard.

Provisions Go Higher.

Strength in grains and hog, combined with renewed investment buying of the deferred deliveries of lard, brought about a higher range. Closing trades were at net gains of 7 1/2c for lard and 1c on ribs, with deliveries of 80,000 lb. of lard on February contracts, the Anglo (Lard) Inc. in cash trade continues good. Packing in the west for the season to date, as compiled by the "Price Current" Reporter, was 1,425,000, against 1,334,000 last year.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

The wheat market has broadened and absorbed an immense volume of long wheat the last two days, with an irregular advance to the highest levels so far on this up turn, July making a new record for the season. Eastern traders have been active on both sides and some of the seaboard operators were said to be bullish last night. Local operators and commission houses on the whole were strongly of the belief that prices are to work irregularly higher. Fluctuations from day to day are not regarded as spectacularly significant by trade leaders, as they believe the world's situation warrants higher prices.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

The wheat market has broadened and absorbed an immense volume of long wheat the last two days, with an irregular advance to the highest levels so far on this up turn, July making a new record for the season. Eastern traders have been active on both sides and some of the seaboard operators were said to be bullish last night. Local operators and commission houses on the whole were strongly of the belief that prices are to work irregularly higher. Fluctuations from day to day are not regarded as spectacularly significant by trade leaders, as they believe the world's situation warrants higher prices.

Hog and lamb values continue to climb, best light porkers reaching $10.10, with top hogs at $14.50. Hogs advanced $2.10 and lambs $1.00 to $1.25 above quotations of the previous day.

Eastern shippers, small packers, and speculators purchased hogs freely, while the Armour and Swift houses were practically out of the market. Receipts were estimated at 18,000 and a third of the number went to shippers.

The general average price of hogs at $8.40 was highest in six months, or practically since early in August, when the average was around $10.50. Yesterday's average stood 7c above the corresponding day a year ago.

Competition between local packers, city butchers, and eastern shippers was unusually brisk in the sheep and lamb end of the trade. Shorn Idaho lambs averaging 55 lbs sold at $12.00 and 54 lb weaned stock at $11.50. Four hundred 118 lb western ewes made $8.00.

The same "hum-drum" conditions featured the cattle trade, but some day, judging from the big upturn in hog and lamb values, from the recent low spot, they are past due for some reaction. Yesterday's cattle trade, regardless of small supplies, was little changed, with 590 lb heifers topping the market at $8.75, while best steers offered went at $8.65, averaging 1,515 lbs. Omaha sold feeding steers yesterday as high as $7.40.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 10,000 cattle, 40,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep, against 8,225 cattle, 37,120 hogs, and 9,277 sheep the corresponding Thursday a year ago.

BUSINESS NEWS IN BRIEF

(Copyright 1922: By Fairchild News Service.)

NEW YORK.—Spring couture openings held a rush of buyers but careful purchasing. Middle west retailers hesitate because of uncertainty over the public's taste for knickerbockers and skirt suits. They declare there is no sense in "risking money on long shots." Models, however, are not startling, not even audacious.

NEW YORK.—Men's clothing manufacturers interpret the withdrawal of overcoats as an effort to limit production and maintain the market. They are skeptical of the statement that production is "sold up."

NEW YORK.—Despite the great number of buyers here, the ebullient and suit market reports buying falling off. Most merchants already have placed initial orders for spring.

BERLIN.—Krupps are establishing cotton factories near Moscow. Some factories already are being produced and offered for sale in Moscow and Petrograd.

BRADFORD, England.—All sections of the Bradford wool trade are invited to take stock in the new £1,050,000 Wool Textile company, Ltd. The company will mobilize financial aid from the entire industry for deservingly honest financially embarrassed.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Local manufacturers say knit goods prices for next fall in this manufacturing market will be 10 to 15 per cent below those of a year ago.

NEW YORK.—The national retail dry goods convention is open. President Webber declares retail prices must be lowered and overhead prevented from increasing at all costs. A movement has been started to have the convention go on record as opposed to a decree issued valuation plan. President Howard of the American Farm bureau told the retailers that distribution costs must be lowered to bring farmers back into the market.

NEW YORK.—The gray goods market was slightly firmer Wednesday in sympathy with raw cotton's rise. While prices were the same as Tuesday, the mills were asking 8 cents a yard for 36's, 40's, 44's, 48's yards to the pound. Second hands, however, had them at 7 1/2 cents. Should cotton open up Thursday, it is expected they will not be available at under 8 cents.

RAILROAD NOTES

Sale of the Missouri & North Arkansas railroad, which suspended operations last July, has been ordered to a decree issued by United States District Judge Jacob Trierer at Little Rock.

Government loan of $1,088,188 was asked by the Gulf, Mobile and Northern railroad of the interstate commerce commission. The advance is sought for fifteen years to finance additions and betterments.

The statement of cars loaded on the Burlington system in January shows that the total was 135,588, of which 102,300 were loaded on the Burlington lines and 33,288 were received from connections. This is an increase of 1,833, or 1.4 per cent over the record for the same month last year.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Several big operators were credited with the buying of St. Paul preferred and Chicago and Northwestern yesterday in New York, and under this leadership the whole railroad department moved into higher ground. St. Paul preferred was put up more than 2 points within the first hour, the first bullish demonstration in an active railroad stock in a long time. Chicago and Northwestern crossed 67 and Baltimore and Ohio rallied above 96, while many other low priced issues made new highs on the movement. St. Paul earnings have scarcely been good enough to justify the sudden turn in the stock, and buyers are evidently relying on future improvement. The same may be said of Chicago and Northwestern.

Along with increased buying of railroad stocks, substantial gains were registered by the bonds of the transportation companies, especially those in a speculative position. Net advances of 1 to 2 points were scored by some of these issues, rather unusual for bonds. In the course of the last week recoveries of 3 to 5 points have been made.

The persistent strength of Studebaker and Chrysler has been a revelation to the shorts in the motor stocks, and their uncomfortable position was aggravated yesterday when new high figures were reached. In some quarters it is said the concerted selling of Pierce-Arrow in the last few days was for the purpose of facilitating covering operations in other motors.

Notwithstanding limited railroad buying in the last year, the annual reports of Baldwin and American Locomotive, which will be made public in March, are expected to show large profits for the common stocks. Both companies, it is estimated, will disclose share earnings of $20 to $25.

Lee Tire and Rubber company is understood to have just about covered its dividend requirements for 1921. The company's earnings for 1921 are estimated at $100,000. This is exclusive of charges to profit and loss, which the company, in common with all tire companies, will make to establish a solid basis of values.

The Bankers State bank, 47th street and Grand boulevard, which will open for business on Saturday, Feb. 18, has elected the following officers and directors: Alexander Flower, chairman of the board; Samuel F. Flower, president; Harry H. Vohon, vice president; Charles H. Irish, cashier; Arthur W. Birby, assistant cashier; directors, M. M. Rothblatt, George W. Leubardt, Alexander Flower, Harry H. Vohon, Victor S. Pearlman, Samuel F. Flower, Chester N. Matthews, Milton Hart, Charles H. Irish.

George Rublee of Washington, D. C., formerly connected with the federal trade commission, was appointed by Federal Judge Learned Hand at New York as temporary receiver for the United States Food Products corporation, against which an involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed.

Net earnings of the New York Telephone company in New York state for 1921 were $6,402,971, according to H. A. Trax, chief accountant, in testimony given before the public service commission. Total telephone revenues for the state were $80,880,393, he said, while the total telephone expense was $72,418,321. The net earnings represent a return of less than 4 per cent on the book value of the company's property in the state.

The Corporation Trust Company of America has placed on file with the secretary of state of Delaware a certificate of incorporation of the Shell Union Oil corporation, with a capital of 10,000,000 shares of no par value. It is understood that this company was formed to take over the Union Oil Company of Delaware. The state tax connection with this incorporation would amount to $50,100.

The Southern Petroleum and Refining company has declared an initial dividend of 2 per cent, payable March 15 to stock of March 10. It was stated officially that it is planned to make the distributions monthly hereafter, with extra payments from time to time as conditions permit.

The following information is summarized by Mr. C. W. Watson, President of the Company, from his accompanying letter:

THE CONSOLIDATION COAL COMPANY. Incorporated in 1860, has been in successful operation for fifty-eight years. It is one of the largest producers of bituminous coal in the United States and in the extent of its unmined coal reserves probably is the largest bituminous coal property in the world. The company owns eighty-two modern equipped mines with a developed capacity of 15,000,000 tons per annum.

The control of additional coal properties resulting from this financing will increase the estimated reserves of unmined coal to over 2,000,000,000 tons, and the acreage of coal lands owned, leased or controlled to about 338,000.

The company has paid cash dividends on its capital stock without interruption since 1885 and since 1905 regularly at the rate of six per cent per annum, in addition to which extra cash dividends have aggregated eleven per cent. The first and refunding mortgage bonds, in the opinion of counsel, are secured by a first lien on approximately 195,000 acres of coal lands with appurtenant mines and equipment and, subject to only $8,615,000 underlying bonds outstanding, are further secured by a general mortgage on approximately 105,000 acres of additional lands with mining property and equipment.

The first and refunding mortgage provides for semi-annual sinking fund payments on the basis of tonnage mined which, after deduction of underlying sinking fund payments, are required to be utilized in the purchase of redemption of bonds up to 107 1/2%.

The average annual net earnings for the past ten years were $6,145,800, or nearly four times the average annual bond interest charges of $1,546,500 for the same period, as compared with the annual interest charge of $1,732,600 on the $34,687,500 funded debt outstanding upon completion of this financing. These earnings include no benefits from assets acquired from the proceeds of these bonds.

The company's coal properties are well located with respect to the principal markets, and produce a well diversified line of bituminous coals, capable of supplying practically every commercial requirement of the trade. The domestic market for these coals extends from the North Atlantic seaboard south to the Gulf of Mexico, and as far west as Montana. Coal is also exported to Canada, Mexico, Central and South America and the Mediterranean. Furthermore, the company controls important distributing organizations with large storage facilities which permit the mining of coal for storage at periods of light current demand, thus tending to stabilize production operations.

Application will be made to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.
